SAGIPHA

Study About Geriatric Institute for People with Hearing Aids

SAGIPHA is a European clinical study conducted by SSIPR member audiologists, which aims to analyze the situation of hearing-impaired patients admitted to geriatric institutions: their specific needs, their use of hearing aids and the needs arising as to the appropriate training of personnel attending them in the centres.

The proposal of this study stems from the need to know to what extent such patients use hearing aids and to assess the actual performance they get from them in order to establish any correlation with the prevalence of cognitive impairment among them.

OBJECTIVES:

To understand the reality of hearing-impaired adults admitted to geriatric centres.

- Study of the type of patients admitted to geriatric centres.
- Identification of the existence of cognitive impairment.
 - Diagnosed cognitive disorder
 - Existence of evidence
- Analysis of the actual situation from the point of view of their hearing and prosthetic adaptation.
 - Whether or not they are hearing aid users
 - Operating conditions
 - Use they make
 - Independence and benefits they gain
